Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

LONDON, March 4.

SATURDAY laſt, a Frenchman, who had lately been robbed on the Highway, came to aſk Juſtice Fielding, his Opinion, whether he might not kill a Thief who offered to rob him? And being told he might, anſwered—Auh! Bien! Je tirerai donc ſans doute. Parblieu! Je tirerai. If all our Engliſh Gentlemen would take the ſame noble Reſolution, the Roads would ſoon be free from Robbers.

The ſame Day, a Foreigner ſwore the Peace againſt a Bricklayer, in the following Words: Sar, dis Man come a my Houſe, he came in my Room, he call a my Wife de Beeſh, de grand a Beeſh. Sar, my Wife be no Woman, ſhe be no Beeſh. Upon dis, I take a de Poker, I make one Blow; begar, I am of Advice if I had but a de Pate of de Fripon, he never call my Wife de Beeſh again. But he did run away, and my Wife ſhe catch up de Candleſtick, ſhe run after him, and throw de Candleſtick at de Fripon, and break a my Candleſtick. Here it is in my Pocket all broke a ſpoil it. It coſt me five Shilling.

The Juſtice, who hitherto ſaw no great Occaſion for Fear on the Side of the Complainant, aſked him, how he could poſſibly ſwear he was afraid of this Perſon, who ſeemed to have much the greater Reaſon for Fear, of the two. To which he anſwer'd, 'Begar, Sar, I am afraid he will come again, and if he do call my Wife de Beeſh, begar I will knock a his Brains out; for I am a ver paſſionate Man, and ſo is my Wife too.'

The Priſoner was diſcharged, but the Juſtice recommended to him to abſtain for the future from the paſſionate Gentleman's Houſe, which he faithfully promiſed to do.

It appeared that the Bricklayer and the Fotcher, who was a Taylor, had formerly been Rivals for the ſame Lady, who had preferr'd foreign Politeneſs to Engliſh ſimplicity.

March 7. Laſt Week a maiden Lady, that lives in Bond Street, had a Letter ſent to her from an unknown Hand, in which were incloſed two Bank Notes, one of 50*l.* and the other of 20*l.* In the Letter was the following Words: Madam, this Money is due to you, as being Heir to your Grandfather, and ſent you by one who prefers Honeſty to Intereſt.

From which it is to be obſerved, that Ambition is the predominant Paſſion of the middle Age of Man. As to the Conſequences that may be drawn from the above, the Reader is left to his own Speculations.

Laſt Week the Son of a very eminent Attorney, that lives at a Houſe at Hounſlow, inſtigated by what Motive is uncertain, thought proper to undertake the dangerous Attempt of committing a Robbery; he mounted upon one of his Father's Horſes, and in a ſhort Time attack'd a Coach, which he found too well fortified to attempt: The Alarm was given that he was a Highwayman, and ſome Gentlemen purſued him: To retard the Purſuit of his Enemies, he dropt a Glove on purpoſe to deceive them, as if the Money was in it: But upon examining, nothing was found; they ſtill purſued, when he then dropt a Handkerchief, in which the Money was really wrapped, but the Purſuers took no notice of the Evaſion, and hunted him into a Wood, where he was taken, then carried before a Magiſtrate, and committed. The Money was reſtored to the People who had it, and nothing in the whole Tranſaction appeared ſtrange, as the Circumſtance of a Gentleman, from Motives of Want, turning Highwayman.

Extract of a Letter from Amſterdam, dated March 6.

"The Death of his late Serene Highneſs will, it is pretended, occaſion an Alteration in two important Points, one of which is the Nomination of a Repreſentative of the Stadtholder in the Eaſt India Company; and the other is appointing one for him in the Admiralty. Meſſ. Vander Gize and de la Porte, who repreſented him in the India Company, have been already diſmiſſed, and the Chambers have oppoſed the Nomination of new Ones, ſo greatly Things are changed, if it be true that it was heretofore deliberated in an Aſſembly of Seventeen, whether the late Prince ſhould not be nominated hereditary General of the Indies. Theſe Gentlemen, the Directors of the Company, are very unwilling to have any Body to controul, or even inſpect their Actions. As to the Admiralty, Mr. Haſſelaer, who is Repreſentative at preſent, is not yet diſmiſſed, but it is generally believed that he ſoon will be, becauſe the noble Deputies in the reſpective Colleges of the Admiralty pretend, that this Employment is contrary to their Privileges, having ſolely the Right of preſiding in the Colleges; and it has been even remark'd, that Mr. Waſſenaer Twickel, has never aſſiſted at the Admiralty when the Stadtholder's Repreſentative was there. We cannot poſitively ſay, whether this Pretenſion of the Nobles be well founded or no; but it is certain that heretofore there uſed to be a Repreſentative of the Stadtholder in the Admiralty; but it was commonly the Lieutenant Admiral who occupied the State of the Admiral General. It was thus that M. de Ruyter was the Repreſentative of William III.

The Affair of the Tutelage, by Precaution, is at preſent under Conſideration; it is aſſured that the States of Holland have already approved of it, and that even her Royal Highneſs the Governante, has returned them her Thanks for ſo doing. This Princeſs will not return to the Hague, till the next Aſſembly of their High Mightineſſes; and it is aſſured, that ſhe will then take her Seat in the reſpective Colleges, that is to ſay, in thoſe of the States General, the Council of State, the States of Holland, and the Gecommitteerde-Raadt."

Extract of a Letter from Amſterdam, dated March 6.

"We have received certain Advices from good Hands, which aſſure, that the Miniſtry of Verſailles, at preſent, appear leſs uneaſy on account of his Pruſſian Majeſty than they have been for ſome Time paſt; which makes ſome ſpeculative People here preſume that the Court of Berlin, which, it was imagined, was upon the Point of adjuſting all Differences with that of Vienna, ſhews ſtill a Backwardneſs to accommodate Matters, and ſeems rather inclined to continue, as heretofore, attached to France. If this ſhould prove true, add the ſame Advices, there is no Doubt but that the approaching Election of a King of the Romans, effected in the Manner that the Houſe of Auſtria, and its Allies, ſeem inclinable to bring it about, will involve Europe in freſh Troubles; for it is certain, that his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, who appropriates to himſelf, by Virtue of the Treaty of Weſtphalia, the Right of having an Eye upon the Tranquility of the Empire, pretends abſolutely, that this Election ſhould be made with the Unanimity of all the Members of the Electoral College; and in Conſequence of this pacifick Syſtem, he will not fail of ſupporting, with a good Body of Troops, thoſe Members of the Germanick Empire who ſhall oppoſe that Election.

The ſame Letters add, that the Court of Berlin finds in the Decree of Imperial Commiſſion concerning the Affairs of Religion, brought to the publick Dictature laſt Month, Motives for not agreeing, according to its ſeeming Determination, to certain Propoſitions made to it on the Part of the Empreſs Queen, in which Negociation great Progreſs had been made. The King of Pruſſia perſuades himſelf that he ſhall draw into his Party all the Proteſtant Princes, by vigorouſly oppoſing the Meaſures with which the Emperor threatens the Evangelick Body. It cannot be conceived what ſhould induce his Imperial Majeſty to take this Step at ſuch a Time, ſeemingly the moſt unlucky that can be imagined. On the other Hand, as moſt People are perſuaded that the Court of Hanover will not abandon the Evangelick Body, they are inclinable to think, that there are in the preſent Circumſtances ſome Reaſons of State and Policy concealed under the Dictature of that Decree. Every Body, however, ſeems well aſſured, that if the Powers which have really the Intereſt of the Common Cauſe at Heart, ſhould not be certain of cauſing the Election of a King of the Romans to ſucceed, they will not bring it upon the Carpet, nothing obliging them to preſs it ſo earneſtly, ſeeing the good Health of the Emperor promiſes long Life to him.

Extract of a Letter from Duſſeldorp, dated March 14.

"We are ſtill informed from Paris, that the Affair of the Clergy, which has made ſo much Noiſe in the World, is far from being determined. There are ſome Prelates in this venerable Body, who do by no Means reliſh the laſt Propoſitions of the Court, and who obſtinately perſiſt, that the Laity have no Right to be made acquainted, directly, nor indirectly, with the Revenues of the Eccleſiaſticks. It is in the mean time apprehended, that the ill-timed Diſobedience of theſe Gentlemen will at length tire out the Patience of his Majeſty, and conſtrain him to make uſe of his royal Authority to determine this Affair, without any farther Altercation or Diſputing.

Moſt of the Miniſters who are expected at Bruſſels, to aſſiſt at the Congreſs which is to be held there, for regulating Matters relating to the Barrier, are preparing to enter upon that thorny and important Affair, wherein the Intereſts of the ſeveral Powers concerned, are ſo perplexed, that it will, it is believed, coſt unſpeakable Labour to adjuſt them in ſuch Manner, as that each intereſted Party ſhall be ſatisfy'd. The Dutch, however, if one may be permitted to judge by the preſent Appearance of Things, will reap the leaſt Advantage from this Treaty, if a Barrier Treaty ſhould be concluded on. The Republick being preſſed on all Sides, can accompliſh nothing to its Wiſh, and the ill Succeſs of its Negociations in France for the re-eſtabliſhing the antient Treaty of Commerce with that Crown, will undoubtedly, at length, conſtrain it to paſs over many Scruples and Conſiderations, and accept the Conditions which the Court of France ſhall propoſe to it. What appears moſt diſagreeable to the Republick, and is entirely oppoſite to its preſent Syſtem of Oeconomy, is the Reſolution that it will be obliged to take, to reinforce the Garriſons of the Places of the Barrier with at leaſt 12000 Men, to which the Government of the State does not ſeem at all to attend, ſeeing it is inceſſantly making Reforms in its Troops, inſomuch that they are reduced to almoſt nothing. But as the Britiſh Miniſters have Orders to act in Concert with thoſe of the Republick, and that the Barrier of the State, is likewiſe a Barrier to Great Britain, the Dutch flatter themſelves, that his Britannick Majeſty will ſupply what ſhall be wanting in the Garriſons of the Republick."

March 21. From Batſtyle near Coney-Hatch, we have the following remarkable Account. An honeſt inoffenſive Man, who keeps a Publick Houſe there, has the Misfortune to have a meer Termagant to his Wife, whoſe Tongue is ſeldom or ever at reſt, but daily threatening the Deſtruction of her Huſband: And on Saturday laſt, her Paſſion ſeemed to be more violent againſt him than ever, who to avoid her Fury, quitted his Houſe with great Precipitation, and betook himſelf to an adjacent Wood for Shelter, where he lay in Jeopardy all that Night, and the greateſt Part of the next Day; towards Evening he ſtole from his Cover, and with great Deliberation, tho' not without ſome Terror, he approached his Habitation, in hopes his Wife's Paſſion was a little appeaſed; but to his great Mortification, ſhe no ſooner had Sight of him, but at him ſhe flew with redoubled Rage, ſo that the poor Man was obliged to quit the Field a ſecond Time, and took Refuge in a Barn, which his Wife perceiving, took no further Notice till Night came on, and well knowing there were many different Sorts of Combuſtibles in the Barn, ſhe ſtole privately with a concealed lighted Candle, and ſet Fire to it, in hopes at once to ſatisfy her Fury by her Huſband's periſhing in the Flames, but happily for him he eſcaped thro' a Hole on the oppoſite Side. The Barn being on Fire, it of courſe brought the Neighbours together, as well to enquire the Cauſe, as to endeavour to extinguiſh it; when ſhe, like a true Vixen, impudently told them, that ſhe had ſet it on Fire herſelf, with a Deſign to deſtroy her Rogue of a Huſband, who had taken Shelter there.

Laſt Saturday in the Afternoon, the Aſſizes ended at Chelmsford, for the County of Eſſex, when the Eleven following Priſoners received ſentence of Death. viz. John Swan and Elizabeth Jeffreys, for the Murder of Mr. Joſeph Jeffreys, of Walthamſtow; Samuel Prior, alias Butcher, for breaking open the Cuſtom-Houſe, at Colcheſter; Samuel Yell, for a Robbery on the Highway; William Medwell, for returning from Tranſportation; Joſeph Radcliffe, and John Turner, both for Horſe-ſtealing; John Hunt, for a Burglary; and James Lucy, William Rand, and Brian Lynis, all three for Sheep-ſtealing.

Miſs Jeffryes ſwooned away ſeveral times while ſhe was at the Bar, in order to receive Sentence, and begged for Time to prepare herſelf for a future State; when the Judge informed her, that ſufficient Time would be allowed, provided ſhe made a proper Uſe of it.

There is ſomething extremely ſhocking in the whole Story of Mr. Jeffryes and his Niece, and it is impoſſible to reflect upon it, without ſhuddering at the dreadful Conſequence of an early Imitation of Vice. According to Miſs Jeffryes's Confeſſion, her Uncle, who ought to have been the Guardian of her Innocence, was the firſt who ſeduced her, and by inceſtuous Commerce, ſo vitiated her Mind, that it is no Wonder ſhe became capable of any Impreſſion. By a long Habit of the moſt monſtrous Incontinence, ſhe doubtleſs ſhook off all moral Principles; and having no Education to poliſh her Manners, and give her a delicate Taſte, ſhe ſunk to the Converſation of low People, from whom nothing can be learned to correct the Appetites, or refine the Paſſions. Providence ſeems remarkably to have interpoſed in the Puniſhment of this Man, by making him fall by the Hands of her he firſt ruined in her moral Character, and, by an Attachment to another Woman, intended to ruin a ſecond Time, by leaving her expoſed to Want and Beggary.——Miſs Jeffryes's Guilt can indeed admit of little Palliation, no more than the Conduct of her Uncle can admit of Excuſe; but the Fate of both muſt neceſſarily ſtrike a reflecting Mind with a ſolemn Kind of Horror, which diſpoſed it to contemplate the Guilt of Incontinence with Dread, in all its Train of unavoidable Miſeries.

The Confeſſion of ELIZABETH JEFFRYES, concerning the Murder of her Uncle, JOSEPH JEFFRYES.

I Elizabeth Jeffryes, do freely and voluntarily confeſs, that I firſt enticed and perſuaded John Swan, and Thomas Matthews, to undertake and perpetrate the Murder of my deceaſed Uncle; which they both conſented to do the firſt Opportunity; that on the 3d Day of July, 1751, myſelf and John Swan, (Matthews to my Knowledge, not being in the Houſe) agreed to kill my ſaid Uncle; and accordingly, after the Maid was gone to Bed, I went into John Swan's Room, and called him, and we went down together into the Kitchen; and having aſſiſted Swan in putting ſome Pewter and other Things into a Sack, ſaid I could do no more; and then I went up into my Room; and afterwards Swan came up, as I believe, and went into my Uncle's Room, and ſhot him; which done, he came to my Door, and rapped. Accordingly I went out in my Shift, and John Swan opened the Street Door, and let me out; that done, I alarmed the Neighbourhood; and I do ſolemnly declare, that I do not know that any Perſon was concerned in the Murder of my deceaſed Uncle, but myſelf, and John Swan; for that Matthews did not come to my Uncle's Houſe the Day before, or Night in which the Murder was committed, as I know of.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, dated March 20.

"The laſt Aſſembly of the States of Holland, was ſhort but turbulent; the Affairs, upon which they deliberated, were of the utmoſt Importance, as that of the free Port, the ſecond Reform of the Troops, and the proviſional Tutelage. Seeing their Province maintains more than one Half the Troops of the State, it is very reaſonable that their Noble and Great Mightineſſes be particularly conſulted in the Meaſures taken by the Council of State. According to all Appearance, the State of military Affairs is going to be entirely changed, the Infantry will be fixed to a certain Number of Battalions, and the Horſe and Dragoons to a certain Number of Squadrons; as likewiſe how many each Battalion and Squadron ſhall contain. The Reduction of the Troops is an important Article of Oeconomy, and it was certainly this which embroiled Affairs between the Republick and its fourth Stadtholder William II. and which has been vigorouſly puſhed, for near two Years, by the Anti-Stadtholderian Cabal, but which will cauſe no Trouble to her Royal Highneſs the Governante, ſhe being very well ſatisfied with the Turn this Affair has taken. It would be happy for the State if the Savings made by this Reform, ſhould be employed for re-eſtabliſhing its Marine, which is its moſt natural Rampart. People want very much to know where the Troops are to be had, which muſt complete thoſe that are to be put into Garriſon in the Places of the Barrier. From this Reſolution of their High Mightineſſes for a Reform, one may infer that they have no Intention of renewing the Barrier Treaty, upon the ſame Terms it was concluded on heretofore.

They write from Hamburgh, that if the Magiſtracy of that City ſhould not obtain Grace of the King of Spain, it is to be feared that they will meet with Difficulties from their Burghers, who have been for ſome Years paſt diſſatisfied with the haughty Behaviour of their Magiſtrates; but if they ſhould, they will do better to accommodate Matters themſelves, than have an Aſſeſſorial Commiſſion, as the Dantzickers have had, which has coſt them a Million and a Half of Florins."

March 25.

An Extract of a Letter from the Hague, March 27.

"The Arrival of the King of Great Brittain in this Country is impatiently expected, as is that likewiſe of his Grace of Newcaſtle, who, it is not doubted, but upon the Intimation of the good Patriots, will inform her Royal Highneſs the Governante how much ſhe is miſtaken in giving Ear to certain People, who have gained the Art to captivate her, and who endeavour to traverſe every Scheme which the faithful Patriots propoſe to that Princeſs for the Good of the Publick, and for the Benefit of her Children: And this is the Cauſe that the Concluſion upon a Council of Tutelage remains ſo long ſuſpended; and this too gives Time to the Cabal to throw Obſtacles in the Way, which may poſſibly become inſurmountable. And if Her Royal Highneſs, whoſe Health is but in a precarious State, ſhould happen to die, every Thing that has been done for the Orange Family, would probably be overturned; and then the Republick would very ſoon fall again into an Oligarchy, which would, one may venture to ſay, bring it ſpeedily to Deſtruction, by the violent Means that it would take to prevent being afreſh deprived of its Power. God help us, and prevent a Revolution of that Sort.

The Merchants of Amſterdam, are very well ſatisfied with the regulating the free Tranſit of certain Merchandize which come from Sileſia and elſewhere, in order to be tranſported into Spain; whereby they flatter themſelves they ſhall bring back that Branch of Commerce which had taken another Rout, by Reaſon of the Duties which were paid upon them in Holland, and from which they were exempt at Hamburgh, and elſewhere. Endeavours are now uſing to regulate the general Tranſit, according to the Plan which was preſented by the late Prince Stadtholder.

We have received a Letter from Paris, which adviſes, that notwithſtanding its having been publiſhed that the Subſcription for the Conſtitution of Annuities by the India Company was full in a ſhort Time, there are not yet more than five Millions of Livres ſubſcribed; and that therefore there ſtill wants thirteen Millions. This Letter adds, that the Directors, and others intereſted, had through Policy, cauſed theſe Reports to be ſpread; but that Scheme has not taken, People not having been thereby drawn into their Project. The Advantage propoſed by theſe Annuities was not ſufficient to tempt the Engliſh and Dutch to take the Bait."

We hear that a Clauſe will be added to all future Naturalization Bills, to oblige all Foreigners that obtain ſuch Bills to reſide ſome Part of their Time in his Majeſty's Dominions.

ANNAPOLIS, May 7.

Laſt Tueſday Evening was interr'd the Remains of his Excellency Samuel Ogle, Eſq; in the Church in this City; his Coffin was covered with black Velvet, and the Pall ſupported by five Gentlemen of the Council, and the preſiding Judge of the Provincial Court.

Thurſday Morning laſt we had a Thunder Guſt here, and another in the Evening, accompanied with a very high Wind. In the Morning it was very violent in Prince George's County, about 17 Miles from hence, where one John Ray, ſtanding at the Door of his Houſe, was kill'd by the Lightning in an Inſtant, and the Hair of his Body, on the Left-ſide, ſinged from his Head down to his Foot. About Half a Minute after, a Walnut Tree, near the Houſe, was ſplit in Pieces thereby; as was alſo, about a Minute after that, a large Sycamore, about 100 Yards diſtant; and 10 or 12 other Trees were likewiſe ſtruck by it, within a Quarter of a Mile of the Houſe.

We hear of conſiderable Damage being done the ſame Day by the Violence of the Wind, in different Parts of the Province: Near Kent Iſland, a Veſſel belonging to Mr. William Adams was overſet, and the People on board narrowly eſcaped drowning. In Prince George's County, a Gentleman had ſeven Buildings blown down, and much other Damage done.

On Friday laſt a remarkable Cauſe was tried before the Honourable Judges of the Provincial Court, wherein Mary W----n was Plaintiff, and Joſeph W----d Defendant: The Action was brought for Breach of a Promiſe of Marriage; and after a long Trial, and the Examination of many Witneſſes, the Jury found for the Plaintiff, and Fifty Pounds Damages. A Cauſe of the ſame Nature was tried at laſt Prince George's County Court, when the Jury found for the Plaintiff, and Damages. A few ſuch Verdicts, with Damages to Half a Man's Worth, might poſſibly cure ſome pretty Fellows of their Gallantry, and intimidate them (as nothing elſe will) from deluding and ruining poor innocent and credulous Girls.

On Monday laſt Mr. Juſtice Dent, after a very pathetick Speech and Admonition to the Criminals condemn'd this Court, proceeded to pronounce Sentence of Death on George Wilſon, James Powell, Thomas Hornbrook, and William Grindy. Wilſon, for the Murder of William Smith, Bazaleel Foſter, and Negroe Cuffee, is to be hung in Chains near the Place where he and his Accomplice committed the Murder; Powell, for Burglary, and Hornbrook, for Horſe ſtealing, are to be executed here on Friday, the 15th Inſtant. Grindy, for Horſe ſtealing, has obtained his Honour the Preſident's Pardon; but is to tranſport himſelf out of the Province in 15 Days.

Tueſday laſt John Broughton, the Pickpocket, was well burnt in the Hand with the Letter R, and ſentenced to a Servitude for his Charges.

May 21. Friday laſt James Powell was executed at the Gallows near this City, purſuant to his Sentence at our laſt Provincial Court, for a Burglary and Robbery committed ſome Time ago in Somerſet County. He was born in this Province, about 39 Years of Age, of a ſtrong Make and Conſtitution, and had the Character of being an old Offender. Before his Conviction he appear'd bold and unconcern'd, ſaying, that in all the Scripture he ever read, he never found that God required the Death of a Sinner, and ſuch he was; but if he muſt die, he thought nine and thirty Year was long enough to live. At the Place of Execution, when Death ſtared him in the Face, he ſeem'd concern'd, owned the Fact for which he was to die, and ſaid, it had been rumour'd about that he was one of Perkins's Gang; but he denied that ever to his Knowledge he had ſeen the Man, or been within a hundred Miles of his Haunts. After the Miniſter had done talking and praying with him, he went to riſe up on his Feet, but fainted away in the Cart, and lay ſenſeleſs for ſome Time, which was thought to be partly occaſioned by his Hands being ſo hard tied that the Blood ſeem'd almoſt ſtagnated. On his coming to himſelf, he deſired the Executioner to make Haſte, and amidſt ſome private Ejaculations was turn'd off.

The ſame Day Thomas Hornbrook was hang'd in Baltimore County for Horſe ſtealing.

Laſt Monday Afternoon, we had at and near this Place a Thunder Guſt, attended with large Hail, which has done conſiderable Damage in beating off Fruit, and tearing Things in the Gardens to Pieces, breaking ſome Windows, and killing many Chickens. About four Miles from Town the Hailſtones were as big as Pidgeons Eggs, and in ſome Places were drove up 12 or 14 Inches high.

BOSTON, May 25.

At a General Meeting of the Freeholders and other Inhabitants of this Town, on Tueſday, the 12th Current, the following Vote was paſſed, viz.

Whereas the Right Honourable Alexander Lord Colvil, Commander of his Majeſty's Ship Succeſs, has upon all Occaſions, during his Station here, for about three Years paſt, diſcovered the utmoſt Readineſs to do every Thing in his Power for promoting the Intereſt of the Province, and of this Town in particular, and by his Conduct and good Services has given great Satisfaction to the Town. And the Freeholders and Inhabitants taking the ſame into Conſideration, propos'd, and thereupon unanimouſly voted, That the Thanks of the Town be, and are hereby given to his Lordſhip, for his aforeſaid good Services and good Conduct, during his Station here. And the Gentlemen, the Select-men, are deſired to wait upon his Lordſhip, and in the Name of the Town preſent him with their Thanks accordingly.

And on Monday laſt, the Select-men waited upon his Lordſhip, and preſented him with the Thanks of the Town, who thereupon gave the following Anſwer in Writing, viz.

"Gentlemen,

I AM extremely ſenſible of the Honour done me by the Metropolis of America; and had I known ſix Months ago, how well the Freeholders, and other Inhabitants of this great Town were affected towards me, I would have applied to the Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, to be continued on this Station: But now it is now too late, I can only ſay, That whenever the American Stations are to be relieved, I ſhall think myſelf happy if I can return to a Country which has already given me ſuch Marks of Eſteem and Regard.

COLVIL."

Newport, May 15. Laſt Mail brought Diſpatches of great Conſequence from White-Hall, to the Governor, &c. of this Colony, in which are ſaid to be an Order of the King and Council, under the Broad-Seal, empowering and commanding the Lords of Trade and Plantations, to nominate and appoint all the Governors, Lieutenant-Governors, Counſellors, Secretaries and King's Attorneys throughout the Britiſh Colonies of America.---A Copy of the Order or Writ of Privy-Council was cover'd by a Letter from their Lordſhips of Trade, admoniſhing the Authority here, to conduct themſelves conformable to theſe Reſolutions or Decrees of State.---('Tis expected we ſhall have a more plain and particular Account of the Purport of theſe Diſpatches in a very ſhort Time. Boſton News Letter.)

NEW-YORK, June 1.

By Capt. Leacraft from the Muſquito Shore, we have Intelligence, that about ſix Weeks ago, Capt. Roome, in a fine large Sloop of this Port, bound from thence home, was taken by a Spaniſh Privateer (or Pirate rather) about ſix Leagues from that Shore. They gave the Boat to ſome of the People, who return'd there again, and then carried the Sloop off, ſuppoſed to Hiſpaniola.

Laſt Week one James M'Bride (a Soldier in his Majeſty's Fort here) was commited to our Goal, on Suſpicion of counterfeiting Spaniſh Pieces of Eight. It appears, that about a Year ago, a falſe Dollar was found in his Poſſeſſion, with ſeveral Pieces of Metal; and on its being diſcovered, he abſconded, till a few Days ago when he made his Appearance here again, and was taken up.

Laſt Tueſday arrived here in Capt. Mallam, from South-Carolina, Five of the Chiefs of the Catawba Indians, and on Saturday they embark'd in a Sloop for Albany; where they are going to renew and confirm the Peace agreed on with theſe Indians laſt Summer.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the Univerſal Magazine, for February, 1752.

An Account of the Trial of Captain James Lowry, before the Court of Admiralty, held on Tueſday, the 18th of February, 1752, at Juſtice-Hall, in the Old-Bailey.

JAMES LOWRY being put to the Bar, and arraigned on an Indictment for Murder, which ſet forth, that he, James Lowry, late Commander of the Merchant Ship Molly, not having the Fear of God before his Eyes, but being moved by the Inſtigation of the Devil, did, on the 24th Day of December, in the 24th Year of the Reign of his preſent Majeſty, with Force and Arms, on board the ſaid Ship Molly, in Latitude 49 Degrees, 50 Minutes, cruelly and violently aſſault, ſtrike, and beat Kenith Hoſſack, a Mariner, on board the ſaid Ship, with a Rope the Thickneſs of one Inch and a Half, over the Back, Loins, Shoulders, Head, Face and Temples, of which Beatings, Wounds and Bruiſes, he inſtantly died. To which Indictment the Priſoner pleaded Not Guilty, and put himſelf upon his Country for his Trial.

The Council for the Crown having opened the Nature and Heinouſneſs of the Crime for which the Priſoner ſtood indicted, proceeded to call the following Witneſſes to ſupport the Charge.

James Gatharah, chief Mate, depoſed, That on the 28th of October, 1750, he ſet Sail from Jamaica, in the Molly, commanded by Capt. James Lowry, the Priſoner at the Bar; that there were fifteen Hands in all on board the Molly; that on the 24th of December following, in Lat. 49 Deg. 50 Min. between 4 and 5 a Clock in the Afternoon, he came upon Deck, and ſaw the deceaſed, Kenith Hoſſack, ſeized, or tied up, one Arm to the Hillyards, and the other to the main Shrouds; and that he ſaw the Priſoner beating him with a Rope, about an Inch and Half thick, called a Catchet-brace; that he went forward about his Buſineſs, and returned about 5, when the Deceaſed begged he would let him down to eaſe himſelf: The Captain being then below, he went to him and got Leave; but, withal, orders that he ſhould be ſeized up again, after he had eaſed himſelf; that, when the Deceaſed was let down, he was not able to ſtand, but lay and crawled upon Deck, of which he informed the Captain, who ſaid, Damn the Raſcal, he ſhams Abraham, ſo ſeize him up again; on which he was tied up a ſecond time, but not ſo faſt as before, which the Captain obſerving, ordered him to be ſeized with his Arms extended to the full Stretch; then the Priſoner took the Rope again, and doubled it, took the Ends in his Hand, and, with the Bite or Double, of the Rope, beat him on the Back, Breaſt, Shoulders, Head, Face and Temples, for about Half an Hour, walking about between Whiles to take Breath; that about ſix a Clock the Deceaſed hanging his Head back and Motionleſs, the Captain had him cut down, and called to this Witneſs, and ſaid, I am afraid Kenny is dead (for ſo the Deceaſed was called by the Ship's Crew) when this Witneſs replied, I am ſorry for it, I hope not; that then this Witneſs went to the Deceaſed to feel his Pulſe, but could find none; that then he opened his Breaſt to try if there was any Palpitation of the Heart, but could find none, and then ſaid, I am afraid he is dead indeed; on this the Priſoner gave the Deceaſed a Pat on the Face, and ſaid,---Damn him, he is only ſhamming Abraham now; that then a Sail was brought, and the Deceaſed put into it, and carried down to the Steerage, where the Captain whetted a Pen-knife on a Whetſtone, and this Witneſs opened a Vein, but the Deceaſed did not bleed.---That the Deceaſed had been for ſome Time very ill of a Fever, and was not quite recovered, but was on the mending Hand, and could do many Things about the Ship, but could not go up aloft.

On his Croſs Examination, he was aſked by the Priſoner's Council, if there had not been any Quarrel or Diſputes between him and the Priſoner before, or ſince the Death of Hoſſack; to which Gatharah ſaid, there had been Diſputes enough, for the Priſoner had uſed him, and every Perſon on board, in a very cruel and tyrannical Manner during the whole Voyage.

Priſ. Coun. Did not you hear the Priſoner complain to Captain Dalton, of the Nancy Sloop, that his Crew had behaved extremely ill, and that he was afraid of a Mutiny?

Gatharah. No, never, nor was there ever any Room for ſuch Complaint.

Priſ. Coun. Was not the Deceaſed very drunk that Day?

Gatharah. No, I don't believe he had drank a Dram that Day.

Priſ. Coun. Did you not hear he had ſtole a Bottle of Rum?

Gatharah. No.

Priſ. Coun. Nor that he ſtole a Note from Waum, one of the Ship's Crew?

Gatharah, Not that he had ſtole a Note, but that Waum ſaid he had loſt a Note, and that the Deceaſed ſaid, he had found it in his Cabbin, and gave it to Waum.

Priſ. Be honeſt Gatharah, and tell the Truth; did I not Uſe the People that were ſick with great Humanity and Kindneſs?

Gatharah. You never uſed any of the ſick Men with Kindneſs except James Smout, and him you uſed with great Tenderneſs; but for the Reſt, ſo far from uſing them with Tenderneſs, that you refuſed to let me have a Bit of Loaf Sugar, to burn with ſome Wine for a poor Man that had the Flux; and when the Men were ſo ill with Fatigue and Sickneſs that they could ſcarce ſtand, you have beat them ſeverely with a large Cane, half as thick as my Wriſt, that you called the royal Oak Foremaſt.

The Priſoner then complained to the Court, that he was not confined till ſeveral Days after the Death of the Deceaſed; and that this Witneſs, at the Head of the Conſpiracy, ſeized the Ship, altered her Courſe, and inſtead of going for London, where ſhe was bound, carried her into Liſbon, where they were all ſeized, and ſent Home by the Engliſh Conſul for Piracy; and now he had ſworn this Murder with a Halter about his Neck againſt him, to prevent him from puniſhing this Witneſs, with the reſt of the Crew, for their Mutiny and Piracy.

Court to Gatharah. How came it that, as the Murder was committed on the 24th of December, you did not confine the Priſoner till the 29th.

Gatharah. If you pleaſe, I will tell you what happened after the Death of Hoſſack. The People on board were very uneaſy about the Murder, and were for confining the Captain; but I repreſented to them, that as our Ship was very leaky, ſo as to require two Pumps to be kept going Night and Day, and our People chiefly, we could not ſpare one Hand that was able to work; that I believed what he had done would be a Warning to him, ſo as to uſe the People better the reſt of the Voyage; that, while he was on board the Ship, he could not eſcape, and, when we came to England, we could charge him with the Murder before any Juſtice of the Peace, which would ſave us a great deal of Trouble. To this Propoſal they all agreed; but, inſtead of the Priſoner's behaving better, in two or three Days, he went on as before, having broke the Finger of one Man; bit another Man's in ſo bad a Manner, that I adviſed him to let me cut it off; broke the Head and Skull of one Man with his great Cane, which he called the Royal Oak Foremaſt, one of the Splinters of which Cane ſtuck in the Man's Skull; hurt the Side of another, and, if he had diſabled but one Man more, in all Probability we muſt have periſhed: On this we reſolved to deprive him of his Command, and confine him; but ſo, that he had the Uſe of his Cabbin, and might come on the Quarter-deck when he pleaſed; he had a Light in his Cabbin, that he might know what Courſe we ſteered at any Time; the Log-book was ſhewed to him every Day as ſoon as it was made up; and as we could not hope to reach England, the Ship being ſo extremely leaky, that, when one Sun was down, I did not expect to ſee it riſe again, and the Men were driven to ſo much Deſpair, that they all forſook the Pumps, kiſſed each other, ſhook Hands, and reſigned themſelves to the Divine Will, but by my Perſuaſions they went to the Pumps again; and, with the Priſoner's Advice, we made for Liſbon, where we arrived on the 13th or 14th of January. When we came off the Rock of Liſbon, we hoiſted a Signal for a Pilot, and as I was going on board a Ship, that lay near us, to borrow ſome Candles (our Store being ſpent) a Fiſhing-boat came with a Pilot, but we, not having Product, were not allowed to come in, ſo we were forced to anchor where we were. By this Pilot the Captain ſent a Letter to the Britiſh Conſul, with a Complaint, as I ſuppoſed, againſt the Ship's Company, for we were preſently after put under Arreſt; and, ſoon after that, the Conſul came on board and examin'd us, reinſtated the Priſoner again in his Ship, and I, with the reſt of the Crew, were put on board a Man of War, and ſent home to England.

Court. Did you, when you was examined before the Conſul, give any Information of the Murder?

Gatharah. I did; the very ſame that I have now given.

Court. Were you treated as Priſoners on board the Man of War, in your Paſſage to England?

Gatharah. No; we were all at Liberty on board, and worked in the Ship, during our Paſſage, in the ſame Manner as the Ship's Company did.

Court. What became of you after you came to England?

Gatharah. We were put into Cuſtody of the Marſhal of the Admiralty,

Court. Cloſe Priſoners?

Gatharah. No; for we could go out and return when we would, without any Keeper with us.

Court. Did you look on yourſelves as under Confinement, on an Accuſation of Mutiny and Piracy, or to be Witneſſes againſt the Priſoner at the Bar?

Gatharah. To be Witneſſes againſt the Priſoner.

The King's Council ſaid, it is a common Cuſtom of the Admiralty to order the King's Witneſſes into the Keeping of their Marſhal of the Admiralty.

Priſ. Pleaſe, my Lord, to let the Log-book be read, of the 29th of December, which will plainly ſhew they were guilty of Mutiny and Piracy.

Court. Whoſe Hand-writing is that Article?

Gatharah. It is mine. [It was read in Court.]

'Decem. 29. Unanimouſly agreed to confine the Captain, and 'make the firſt Port.'

Priſ. to Gatharah. Did not the Men in general behave ill during the Voyage; and did not I frequently ſay, I believed they intended to mutiny?

Gatharah. I never heard you ſay any ſuch Thing, nor had you any Occaſion, for the Men, when well, did all that they could, but I am ſure you uſed them very cruelly all the Voyage.

Priſ. If you would be honeſt, you would ſpeak the Truth: Did not you ſee Roberts, the ſecond Mate, beating me, and did not you part us?

Gatharah. I did ſee you and Roberts engaged together, and took you off him, as you were down together; but this was after you was deprived of your Command, and you had knocked Roberts down firſt.

Priſ. Did not Roberts ſell Rum to the People, by which they got drunk, and neglected their Duty?

Gatharah. I know nothing of that; the Men could not well get drunk, for you would not let them have what was their Due.

Court to Gatharah. Is it common to correct Men on board of Ships in the Manner the Deceaſed was treated?

Gatharah. It is common on board of Merchant Ships to give the Men a few Strokes with a Rope.

Court. Did there ſeem to be any Malice in the Priſoner towards the Deceaſed?

Gatharah. There did, for the Priſoner took every Opportunity to uſe the Deceaſed ill, and I believe, if the Priſoner had not killed the Deceaſed then, he would have done it before the End of the Voyage.

Court. What do you think was the Cauſe of the Death of the Deceaſed?

Gatharah. I do believe that he died of the Bruiſes and cruel Treatment from the Priſoner.

Court. You ſaid that the Deceaſed had been ill, and was not quite recovered. Do you think, if the Deceaſed had been in Health, the Uſage he received from the Priſoner would have occaſioned his Death?

Gatharah. I believe the ill Uſage he received would have killed the ſtrongeſt Man alive.

Council for the King. What Character did the Deceaſed bear?

Gatharah. That of an honeſt, ſober, good-natured Man.

John Hunt, William Waum, and James Smout, being called, confirmed the Teſtimony of Gatharah; and the King's Council, thinking they had ſufficiently proved the Charge, reſted it here, though they had ſeveral other Witneſſes; and the Priſoner was informed that now was the Time to make his Defence.

Priſ. My Lord, and Gentlemen of the Jury, my Caſe is exceeding hard; the Witneſſes that have been produced againſt me, have agreed to ſwear this Murder upon me, well knowing, that, if they do not take away my Life, their own will be in Danger, as I hope to make appear. In October, 1750, I ſet Sail from Jamaica, in the Molly, of which I was Commander, with thirteen Hands beſides myſelf on board; we were bound for London; I had not been long at Sea, but I found I had got a Sett of the moſt wicked, drunken, idle Fellows, that ever came into a Ship. I had great Apprehenſions that they intended to run away with the Ship, and ſo I told Captain Dalton, in the Nancy, who came from Jamaica with me, and begged he would keep me Company, and obſerve what Courſe we kept; this the Witneſs Gatharah knew, if he would have been honeſt, and ſpoke the Truth; but he has ſworn with a Halter about his Neck.----Often when I have awaked, I found they had altered the Ship's Courſe while I was aſleep; and Gatharah, who was my chief Mate, often inſulted me, and uſed me ſo ill, that I was obliged to turn him out of my Meſs, and forbid him my Cabbin. Roberts, the ſecond Mate, having Rum, would ſell it to the Men, notwithſtanding I often forbid him, by which Means they were ſcarce ever ſober. Our Ship proving leaky, we were obliged to keep continually pumping, and ſome of the Men being ſick, occaſioned by their drinking ſo much Rum, I could not but be very angry with Roberts, for ſupplying the Men with Liquor. On the 23d of December, though the Witneſſes ſwear the 24th, one of the Men had loſt a Bottle of Rum, and I was informed the Deceaſed had taken it, and drank it; at the ſame time, William Waum came to me, and complained he had loſt a Note, and believed that Kenith Hoſſack (the Deceaſed) had ſtole it (though he denies he ſaid ſo now) upon which I called the Deceaſed upon Deck, to examine him, and found he was ſo drunk, as ſcarce able to ſtand, therefore I ordered him to be tied to the Rails of the Ship, till he was ſober, for, if he had gone down to his Cabbin, he would have got more Rum, and ſo endangered his Life, he having been ſick before with drinking. The Rails are not above Breaſt high. [The Priſoner knelt down in the Bar, and ſhewed the Court the Manner, as he ſaid, the Deceaſed was tied.] The Deceaſed being a commical Fellow, I took a Bit of Rope, and, flouriſhing it 3 Times round, gave him a Stroke or two upon the Breech, but not ſo hard as to hurt him, no more than I do this Book [Striking his Hand gently on the Log-book that lay by him on the Bar] after he had been tied for ſome Time to the Rails he fell backward and foamed at the Mouth; I then cut him looſe, and he fell down, and I believe his being intoxicated, and ſtruggling to get looſe, might ſuffocate him. I did all I could to recover him, as the Witneſſes againſt me have allowed. I was not then charged with murdering the Deceaſed, nor did I hear any Thing of ſuch a Charge, till five or ſix Days after Hoſſack's Death, when they deprived me of the Command, confined me, ſeized the Ship, altered her Courſe, which was to England, and carried her to Liſbon. I had prepared a Letter to ſend on Shore by the firſt Boat that came on board, to the Engliſh Conſul, informing him of the Situation I was in, who came on board, examined us all, and reinſtated me in the Command of the Ship, which I brought home ſafe to England; and the Crew were ſent home Priſoners, on board of a Man of War, upon my Accuſation of Mutiny and Piracy. It cannot be ſuppoſed the Conſul would truſt me with the Command of the Ship, if I had been under a Charge of Murder.

The Priſoner then ſaid, he had no Witneſſes as to the Fact, but that he thought the Log-book would ſufficiently ſupport what he had ſaid in his Defence, as that the Witneſſes who had been produced againſt him, had ſworn with Halters about their Necks, in order to ſcreen themſelves for their wicked Acts of Mutiny and Piracy, well knowing, that, if he eſcaped, they muſt be hanged. And then called ſeveral Perſons to his Character.

The Witneſſes being all examined, the Judge very impartially ſummed up the Evidence, and gave a moſt excellent and learned Charge to the Jury, who withdrew, and in about Half an Hour returned with a Verdict, finding the Priſoner Guilty, Death.

March 31. By Advices from Vienna, we have an Account of a moſt dreadful Fire at Kremſier in Moravia, which has laid in Aſhes the greateſt Part of that Place, as alſo the fine Palace of Cardinal Troger, Archbiſhop of Olmutz: The Damage done by this Conflagration exceeds 100,000 Florins, [9375 l. Ster.] and they regret in particular the Loſs of his Eminency's Library, which was one of the beſt in Germany. The like Accident has happen'd at Tuln, a little Town on the Danube, within ſix Leagues of Vienna, where a fine Monaſtery of the Order of St. Dominick has been reduced to Aſhes, and only forty Houſes have eſcaped the Flames.

By Letters from Dunkirk we learn, that upwards of 20 Ships have been loſt between that Place and Calais, in the late Storm.

By our laſt Letters from Perſia, we are informed, That the Troubles in that unhappy Kingdom were as bad as ever, and that the Army of Prince Heraclius of Georgia continued to increaſe daily.

According to private Letters from Peterſburgh, which may be depended upon, the Court has taken a Reſolution, at the Inſtance of ſome Foreign Merchants, to erect a new Company for carrying on a Trade to the Eaſt-Indies, agreeable to a Plan that has been approved.

From Ratiſbon we have Advice, That the Proteſtant Princes have carried their Point in the Affair of Hohenloe, in Spite of the Opinion and Reſult of the Aulick Council, back'd by the Emperor's Decree.

On Tueſday laſt the Honourable Houſe of Commons preſented an Addreſs to his Majeſty, that he would be pleaſed to give Directions to the Commiſſioners of Trade and Plantations, to prepare and lay before them at the Beginning of next Seſſion of Parliament, a State of the Iſland of Jamaica, with its Strength, Trade, and Fortifications, and to what Degree the Number of white Inhabitants is increaſed or diminiſhed ſince 1743.

In a private Letter from Ireland we hear, that Lieutenant O---e, who was lately kill'd in a Duel there, had the ſame Day, in which he fell, fought two Duels: He firſt quarrell'd with his Captain, whom whom he invited to the Field of Honour in the Morning, but luckily before any Wounds were given they were separated; but in the Afternoon, when he was engaged in Company, and talking over the Affair, a Gentleman present espoused the Cause of the Captain so warmly, that a Duel ensued betwixt them, in which Capt. O---e fell a Sacrifice to his Rashness, or more properly speaking, ill-tim'd Bravery.

April 2. A few Days ago a melancholy Affair happend at a Place called Long Parish, near Andover, in the County of Hants. A Gentleman riding by a lonely House, between Seven and Eight in the Evening, imagined he heard the Cry of Murder; at which being very much alarmed, he rode on to the next Village, and put up at a Publick-house, where the unhappy Owner of the above House was then sitting: Upon Information of what the Gentleman had heard, they, with two or three more, hastened away immediately to enquire into the Cause, and when they arrived at the House, found all fast. No Admission being given, they forced open the Door with an Iron Crow; and the first Person they met was a Gipsey-Woman, who held a long Knife in her Hand, and threatened the Life of any one who should oppose her; upon which the Gentleman took a Pistol out of his Pocket, and shot her through the Head. Then they proceeded, and found three Men, who had collected together the most valuable Part of the Furniture, (tho' the best of it was but mean) and were preparing to carry it off, having first of all barbarously murdered the poor Woman of the House, and her two Children; but after some Resistance, they were secured.

CHARLES-TOWN, South-Carolina, May 11.

From Africa we have Advice, that there are a great Number of French Men of War on the Coasts of that Continent: And that they are erecting floating Factories and Forts in several Parts where we formerly had the greatest Trade:----Capt. Bostock, who arrived a few Days ago, saw three French Ships of 74, 56, and 18 Guns, on the Windward Coast.

Halifax, in N. Scotia, May 30. On Saturday last was taken within the Mouth of our Harbour, and on Monday brought to Town, a Sea-Monster, a Female of the Kind, whose Body was of about the Bigness of an Ox, and something resembling one, covered with short Hair of a brownish Colour; the Skin near an Inch and a Half thick, very loose and rough; the Neck thick and short, resembling that of a Bull; the Head very small in Proportion to the Body, and considerably like an Aligator's; in the upper Jaw were two Teeth, of about 9 or 10 Inches long, and crooked downwards, of considerable Bigness and Strength, supposed to be pure Ivory; the Legs very short and thick, ending with Finns and Claws like those of a Sea Turtle; the Flesh and Inwards of this Creature, upon being open'd, appeared to resemble those of an Ox or Horse: It has been shewn here for several Days past, with Satisfaction to the Spectators; and we hear the Fat of it is now trying up to make Oil.

Portsmouth in N. England, May 15. The Sloop Seaflower, belonging to Piscataqua River, is just arrived from Barbados, the Master of which informs, that he left that Island the 14th of April last, and on the 16th, at Two a Clock, P. M. he espied two Sail, one under the Lee, and the other (a large Ship) on the Weather Bow, bore N. N. E. standing to the Southward; the Ship then bore down on said Sloop under French Colours till she came so near as to command her, when she hoisted Spanish Colours, and fired a Shot under her, and brought her to, then ordered the Master on board the Ship, and bring his Journal with him, but the Boat not being good, the Spaniard hoisted out their's, and carried the said Master on board; who found that she came from Old Spain, was bound for La-Vera-Cruz, and had been out 8 Weeks, mounted 24 Carriage Guns, with 180 Men; and having but four Days Allowance of Water, compelled said Master to let them have a Barrel of Rum out of his own Adventure, and gave him 32 Dollars for it; telling him he should not say that he had met with a Pirate; and thank'd him for supplying him when he was in great Want, as also informing him how far he was to the Westward, being in the Lat. 19 d. 0 m. N. and Long. 60 d. 16 m. West from the Meridian of London; but the Spaniard judged himself to be to the Westward of Porto-Rico.----The unfortunate Master of said Sloop being now safe arriv'd, in this Port of Piscataqua, with Vessel and Cargo to his Owners, is by them charged with a Breach of Orders and Piracy, for supplying the poor Spaniards at Sea when in great Want.----Let this be a Warning to all Masters of Vessels to be careful of making a Breach of Orders, tho' they be compelled by a Spanish Ship of 24 Guns and 180 Men, or any other Vessel of Superior Force.

To the PRINTERS.

FALSE Accusation I think has been held detestable in all Ages, but that it is too often practised by the present will be readily granted, and which the following Affidavit may serve to demonstrate; the Motive for inserting it, is to wrest (if possible) an injured Character from the devouring Jaws of Calumny, for a Man thus aspersed, if in Trade, generally loses his Credit, if in Debt, he may be certain of a Visit from his Creditors, and if their Demands be not immediately answer'd, O unhappy Man! his Portion will be a loathsome Jail, and inevitable Ruin. I believe this Affair is too well known to need a further Comment, and shall conclude with these inimitable Lines of Shakespear:

Who steals my Purse, steals Trash; 'tis something, nothing;
'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been Slave to Thousands;
But he that filches from me my good Name,
Robs me of that, which not enriches him,
And makes me poor indeed.

I am yours, &c.

These Deponents, on their solemn Oath do say, that on Thursday, the 18th Instant, about Six a Clock, Archibald M'Lane, of Philadelphia, Merchant, came on board the aforesaid Schooner Industry, and there remain'd and continued until this Day he was brought on Shore at this Town of Newcastle, on Suspicion of having been concerned in taking a certain Sum of Money, amounting to One Hundred Pounds, or thereabouts, with a Silver Cream Server, and Silver Pepper Box, out of the Scrutore of a certain Charles Garroway, likewise of Philadelphia, Merchant. And further they do say, That whereas the aforesaid Suspicion was grounded on Two Persons being seen go ashore at Gloucester-Point, where the said Schooner lay the Night the aforesaid Money was taken, the two Persons last named were Mariners on board the said Schooner, and called and named Robert Tatnall, and William Power, and no other Persons went ashore from the said Schooner: And further they say not.

All perſons on or near the road, that have occaſion themſelves, may have it done with due care and attendance: The price of paſſengers or goods, that ſhall come to Burlington, will be more per mile than from Bordentown. On Sundays or Mondays in any week, paſſengers trading up and down the river, or any other manner, whoſe waggon hire ſhall amount to Sixteen Shillings, and upwards, ſhall, upon the firſt notice, have a waggon, and be conveyed to the ſtage boat, which will be ready to receive them at the landing, and is the moſt handy and convenient of any thereabouts, there being a good wharff to ſtep into the boat. The boat, for the firſt time, will begin to attend at the Crooked Billet on Monday, the 13th day of Auguſt, 1751, and the waggon will proceed the day following. Further, if the ice, or any thing elſe, ſhall at any time prevent the paſſage boat from going from Burlington to Philadelphia, the ſtage waggon will, if requir'd, proceed from Burlington to Cooper's Ferry. To be ſold by

CHRISTOPHER MARSHALL,

At the Golden-Ball, in Cheſtnut-ſtreet,

Dr. BENJAMIN GODFREY's General Cordial.

THAT by many years experience, and the conſtant ſucceſs that has attended the taking of my cordial drops in the ſeveral diſtempers of the cholick, griping of the guts, all ſorts of fluxes and looſeneſs, hickup, pleuriſy, rheumatiſm, catarhs or defluxions of humours upon the lungs, fevers, ſmall-pox, meaſles, and in ſeveral diſorders incident to children; it effects ſo much beyond the force of other medicines as is ſcarce credible. And thereby the great reputation theſe ſo much famed cordial drops have ſo univerſally gained, have induced many mean and mercenary pretenders to counterfeit them, by imitating my bottles and bills of directions as near as they can or dare to do, and thereby impoſing upon the publick their dangerous compoſitions for the true and genuine ſort. I do therefore think myſelf obliged, in gratitude for the univerſal good reception my cordial drops have ſo long met with, and for the ſafety of thoſe who may have occaſion to uſe them, to give the publick this neceſſary caution, which I deſire may be obſerved. That the bottle they buy have not only my chriſtian name on the top of the bottle, but that my name at large be in each printed bill of directions, without which they may be aſſured it is a notorious counterfeit, and may be productive of the worſt conſequences.
